

Scan with Camera Phone

www.WritersBrick.org

Dear Parents and Teachers,

Welcome to Writer's Brick!

This free short story writing contest inspires young authors to engage in creative writing. Homeschool families, school districts, and classrooms across the United States have all joined in this competition. We hope you find this contest is fun too!

Don't miss our next contest worksheet, sign up for email updates at WritersBrick.org.

How to Enter

We know parents and teachers are busy, so we accept stories in whatever way is easiest for you: text, email, or snail mail. Students are not required to use the worksheet, but please be sure that the author's name, author's grade, and parent or teacher contact information are included with every story. So that we can contact winners. Completed stories can be sent by email to contest@WritersBrick.org or by text message to 307-222-9331.

We encourage you to use the Writer's Brick contest as a learning tool. We do not provide feedback on spelling, grammar, handwriting, or content. Submissions are limited to 500 words.

Winners

Prizes are announced on our website a few days after the deadline. We choose a prize winner through a random drawing. We also select stories to animate based on the criteria in the writing prompt video posted on our website. We will attempt to notify the teacher or parent listed on the winning entry.

Questions?

If you have questions or suggestions, please text or call 307-222-9331 or email info@WritersBrick.org.

Have fun!

Adam, Jay, and Harm Larsen
Writer's Brick
info@WritersBrick.org
307-222-9331
P.O. Box 871194
Vancouver, WA 98687

P.S. Teachers and Parents can enter too!

P.P.S. Please share WritersBrick.org with others! More contestants could mean more prizes!